Pennsylvania Buys

Many Partridges

Consults With Secretary of North Carolina Audubon Society.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

GREENSBORO, N. C., Jan. 12.—Dr. Joseph Kalfor, secretary of the State Game Protective Association, of Pennsylvania, spent yesterday here in conference with the secretary of the North Carolina Audubon Society, Gilbert T. Pearson, returning to Harrisburg last night. Dr. Kalfor is an entertaining talker, and said North Carolina was taking the right step in the beginning of stopping of the drain upon its game. He said that the Northern and Western States were getting all their fur shipments in spite of the law prohibiting it from North Carolina and Virginia, and more attention should be paid to enforcing the laws, as had been done in other States.

Although game laws have been in force in Pennsylvania for twenty-five years, it was only the past year, he said, that the public had become educated to the practical value of bird life and the necessity for protecting it.

Besides protecting many States are buying live birds in other States turning them loose for propagating purposes.

Pennsylvania's last Legislature appropriated $8,000 for the purchase of partridges alone, and these live birds are being bought by special permission in Alabama at $9 per dozen.

The annual appropriation for game protection in Pennsylvania is $30,000. Dr. Kalfor says that, with more money for its enforcement, the game law of North Carolina is a model. The organization and work of the State Audubon Society in this State, he added, is attracting attention all over the Union, and other States are using it as a pattern.

SCALDED TO DEATH.

Little Child Dies From Coffee Being Turned Over On It.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

OFFICE, HANOVER CO., VA., Jan. 12.—Mr. Gilbert Harris lost one of his children last week from being terribly scalded with boiling coffee. The mother accidentally knocked the coffee pot off the table, and the little thing caught the contents on its head. Dr. H. B. Anderson did all he could for the little sufferer, but pneumonia set in and it died in two days.

Captain R. M. Berkeley, who had to resign his position with the United States and Ohio Railway more than two years ago on account of his eyesight, hopes to take up his work again soon. His twin brother, Captain A. C. Berkeley, who also had to give up his job with the same company two years ago on account of a severe illness, hopes in a week to take his old run from Richmond to Newport News.

Mr. John Pointz Nelson, of the Louisville Courier-Journal staff, is very sick at Oakland, the home of his brother-in-law, Mr. Roswell Page.

Dr. L. M. Blackford, D. D., and his son, Ambler, of the Episcopal High School, Alexandria, were visitors to the neighborhood during the holidays. They first paid a visit to Mrs. B. B. Page, of Oakland, and then to his niece, Mrs. Fenton Noland, of Altwell. Dr. Blackford spent much of his boyhood in this neighborhood, but this was his first visit since the war.

Miss M. B. Noland left this week for Richmond to spend the winter.

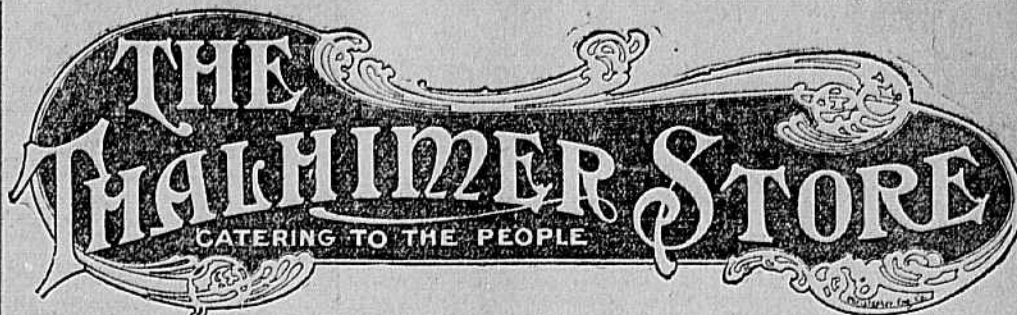

Give a Church Tea.

Mrs. R. T. Snyder, of No. 1828 Grove Avenue, will give an "Orange Tea" on Friday, January 13th, at 8 o'clock, for the benefit of the Church of the Holy Comforter. The choir of the church will be the musical guests of the occasion. The evening will be made enjoyable by several orchestra selections and an attractive programme of recitations and music will be carried out.

Where Mr. Garrett Stops.

In the list of stopping places of senators printed in The Times-Dispatch of Thursday, the address of Senator W. H. Garrett, of Henry, was incorrectly stated. The senator is at No. 407 North Eleventh Street, Richmond, Va.

Two Important Sales!

TEMPTING SILKS---a bargain feast!

The entire silk space in the store---and more---turned into a lively selling centre. Prices have been materially reduced and this price clipping takes in almost every piece of silk in the house. The sale shall strike "fever heat" from the very start, owing perhaps to the extremely good values that we shall ask you to buy. Now, all that's absolutely necessary for you to do in order to measure the true import of these silk bargains is to attend. You'll please us in making the test.

Plaid Silks which we sold at 75c per yard, go now at50c

Duchesse Satin, in cream color, formerly $1.50 per yard, now75c

Duchesse Satin, in colors, the regular $1.00 value, now50c

Pompadour Silks, in some very select figures, were 89c, now59c

Brocade Silks, in white and cream; were $1.00, now75c

Moire Velours, in reseda, navy, national blue, Alice blue, light gray, jasper, tobacco brown, seal and heliotrope; were 75c, now 50c

Messalines, in colors; were $1.00, now 75c

Remnants---A very large lot of them to select from, in black, white and colors, among them Japanese Silks, Louisines, Peau de Cygne, Taffetas, Peau de Sole, Peau de Levant, Peau de Chamols, Costume Silks, Crepe de Chine, Pongee, Liberty and other Satins, Messalines and Fancy Silks; also Velvets and Velveteens, in black and colors.

BLANKETS from "down home" at a third less than usual prices. North Carolina Blankets are indeed the enthusiastic rivals of the California wool goods, but the prices here to-morrow hardly warrant us in giving the values that you shall get. The secret lies in the deal that brought these two hundred and thirty some pairs of worthy wool blankets, in various weights, borders and sizes, to the store. Bought cheap. Sold the same way.

$5.00 North Carolina White Wool Blankets, 10-4 size, now$3.98

$6.00 and $6.50 North Carolina Wool Blankets, 11-4 size, now$4.98

$6.00 and $7.50 North Carolina Wool Blankets, 12-4 size, now$5.98

$7.50 North Carolina Wool Blankets, 11-4 size, now$5.98

$10.00 North Carolina Wool Blankets, 12-4 size, now$7.48

$4.50 and $5.00 North Carolina Gray Wool Blankets, 10-4 size, now $3, $4

See them in the Window.
